

TITLE: Revelation then Revolution with Belinda Clemmensen

“Are you influencing the system or is the system influencing you?”

This quote gave me chills.

As women, we often have to squeeze into someone else's system. Because of this, we end up questioning why we aren't succeeding: Is it because I'm not trying hard enough? Am I underperforming? Am I not smart enough?

Is there a fix?

Join me and my guest, Belinda Clemmensen, as we talk about being a more conscious leader through self-awareness.

Belinda Clemmensen is an inspiring founder of The Women's Leadership Intensive and author of "Women, Leadership & Saving the World: Why Everything Gets Better When Women Lead."

What we discuss:

- The power of self-aware leaders
- How to discover the real, hidden barriers women face in the workplace
- Our personal experiences with balancing family responsibilities and work
- Strategies Belinda used to identify and challenge workplace systems that don't work for you
- Her personal leadership journey and how she embraced vulnerability, learning, and growth as a conscious leader

Connect with: Belinda Clemmensen

Website: <https://www.womensleadershipintensive.ca/>

Book: <https://www.womensleadershipintensive.ca/book>

LinkedIn: <https://www.linkedin.com/in/belinda-clemmensen-6aa94014/>

Loved the episode?

You might love my website: www.carolynswora.com

For any questions or feedback, send me an email to support@carolynswora.com. I'd love to hear from you.